- Most UFV degree programs offer direct entry from high school as well as a university entrance program path
- Self-reporting grade system now closed
- Students reporting after March 31 should submit report cards or transcripts
- Applications are still being accepted for most programs (closed: BKines, Social Services Diploma, CSW Certificate)

Program Paths

What are they?

- Open access programs for:
 - HS grads or students 19 and over who don't meet formal entrance requirements for their intended program
- Program paths for most programs
e.g., Arts studies, Business studies, etc.

Why?

- Research – students identify more readily, perform more successfully, if they associate early with an intended program

Program Paths

For students who are:

- Completing entrance requirements for an intended program
- Taking courses that will count towards their intended program
- Students are still able to take any and every course for which they have met the pre-requisites
- Students are not “locked in” to a particular program path
- Students in a program path must still apply for admission to their program
