

IDEOLOGY AND POLITICS

Political Philosophy and Political Ideology have a rough, rocky and turbulent history. This course will touch down on a variety of political theories and political ideologies. We will also examine how theory, ideology and political praxis (action) are interdependent. The course will examine the Western intellectual tradition, and we will apply such notions as theory and ideology to the Canadian context. We will, also, briefly examine the ideological nature of the more militant wing of Islam and its impact on the 'clash of civilizations' ideology.
