LEARNING OUTCOMES:

Upon successful completion of this course, students will be able to:

1. an enhanced sense of both personality and personal interest in their work as artists/sculptors
2. an enhanced appreciation and understanding for sculpture both in its historical and contemporary context and practice
3. significant technical development in the area of sculpture-making as an art form
4. awareness of and focus on the production of a good student portfolio package

METHODS: (Guest lecturers, presentations, online instruction, field trips, etc.)

Within a schedule of studio assignments, instruction is linked to both group needs and support for individual development. Students focus on three specific projects which have conceptual and technical skill development as a priority. Demonstrations, lectures, visual presentations, course readings, written assignments, and field trips complement sculpture-making projects and group critiques. Students will engage in discussion and analysis of their own work, that of classmates, and activity in the broader artistic contexts.
