LEARNING OUTCOMES:

Internship Learning Goals

The student will develop internship learning goals. This should be a collaborative process resulting in outcomes that meet student needs and abilities as well as meet the needs of the sponsoring organization under the guidance and supervision of the faculty practicum supervisor. Internship learning goals can be viewed as falling within the categories:

Skills goals: The student will set goals that develop skills to be utilized during the internship and to transfer to future work settings. Some examples include critical thinking (e.g. synthesize and evaluate information from various sources), interpersonal communication, technical skills, project management, cross cultural communication, language skills, etc.

Knowledge goals: The student will gain and utilize knowledge that can apply to his/her future academic Course work, future career opportunities, or independent research such as development theory, human rights, environment and development, political economy of development, indigenous people and development, etc.

Values goals: Considering the official mission or philosophy that guides the sponsoring organization, the student will examine his/her own values and learn to reconcile and understand differences and commonalities within the context of international development work and the role the sponsoring agency plays within the partner country community in order to deepen the intern's sense of vocation, understanding of other cultures, and their engagement as a global citizen.

Career/personal development goals: The experience the student will gain as an intern affects short- and long-term career plans. Internship placements may be evaluated in relation to the education and professional development required for a career in this (or another) field.

METHODS: (Guest lecturers, presentations, online instruction, field trips, etc.)

The primary emphasis in the on-line seminar will be on group discussion of issues that come up in the internship setting, and on the presentation of community development cases, theories, and ethical dilemmas in the practice setting. Selected topics will also be covered from time to time, depending on student-identified learning needs and interests.

Students will be required to participate in an on-line seminar class on the integration of development theory and practice. In addition, students will work with the department to arrange placement, prepare for their internship, secure additional directed studies credits and coordinate debriefing when the practicum is completed.

SUPPLIES / MATERIALS:

Students are responsible for all costs associated with the practicum, including criminal records reviews and transportation to and from the internship setting. Please note that in selected cases, funding and/or grants to assist with costs of placement are available.

STUDENT EVALUATION: [An example of student evaluation for this course might be:]

All internship experience is graded by the agency supervisor on a Credit/No Credit basis. The agency supervisor recommends the grade to the UFV faculty liaison. The final grade for this course will be assigned by the faculty liaison when the required number of hours and all required assignments have been completed satisfactorily.

The grade of Credit/No Credit will be based on satisfactory completion of the following:

- 1) Satisfactory participation in on-line seminar class
- 2) Satisfactory mid-term evaluation completed by the agency supervisor
- 3) Satisfactory end of term evaluation completed by the agency supervisor (including confirmation of required number of hours)
- 4) The maintenance of a journal. This should be comprised of day-to-day records and observations, data (where useful) and your reflections on the opportunities and challenges you encountered during the program. It is your personal diary/record and a reference document only. The journal will be a useful resource when preparing your reflections paper.
- 5) A Reflections paper. The Reflections paper should be approximately 10 pages or 2500 words in length. This should be double-spaced and typed. It may include photocopies of photographs, drawings and other supporting materials (originals may not be picked up so it is best to use photocopies). The Reflections paper should expand on the mid-term report (you can include sections from the mid-term report in the final Reflections paper). Again, this paper is about the process of experiential learning: what worked, what didn't work, what obstacles you encountered along the way, etc.

Semester prior to internship placement includes coordinating all details and training related to placement.

Potential topics include cross-cultural communication, research methods, gender roles, organizational change, rights-based development, role of the development agency and regional information relevant to placements. All are topics that student should be familiar with but may need to review given internship context.

Week 8-13 Complete work plan and outline Reflective paper

Week 14-15 Complete paper and debriefing sessions
